New Boy Bishop of Berden, England, Model For Other Lads

THE ancient St. Nicholas day custom of electing a new bishop by the boys of the parish church at Berden, Essex, England, resulted in the choice of Frederick Brett, who now is the new boy bishop of the village. Here he is in his "official" robes. For one year he must be the model boy of the place, setting the example to others in kindness and good deeds. He recently took "office," and other boys of the parish were chosen to aid him at church services.

Words of Financier George

SEES PERIL IN MONEY MERGER

Hands Secured Control, Declares

lieve It Could Get Into Bad Hands.
Testimony of the Banker Startles
the Pujo Committee.

Washington, Jan. 11.—George F. Baker, New York financier, declared before the house committee investigating the money trust that bad hands could not retain control of the money market. He stated in effect that the present concentration of money and credit has gone far enough; that in bad hands it would have a bad effect upon the nation; that the safety of the situation lies in the personnel of the men in control, and that present conditions are not entirely comfortable for the country. These statements startled the committee.

Mr. Baker reviewed in detail the operations of himself, his bank, the First National of New York, and J. P. Morgan & Company in the issuance of bonds.

Replying to questions asked by Counsel Undermyer of the committee, Mr. Baker testified he did not think there was a money trust.

Undermyer asked Baker as to a "change of policy" on the part of banks within the last 10 years, look-

Will Visit Thebes Where an Exploration Party Is at Work.

New York, Jan. 11.—J. P. Morgan, who sailed on the Adriatic, bound for Mediterranean ports and the Levant, is to visit the ruins of ancient Egypt, where an expedition sent out by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, of which he is president, is now excavating at Thebes.

On board the Adriatic also is Curator Albert M. Lythgoe of the Egyptian department of the Metropolitan museum, who went to Egypt a year ago at the invitation of Mr. Morgan to see the progress of the exploration party at the palace of the Egyptian king Amenhotep III at Thebes, the Temple of Darius and the cemetery in the oasis of Kargeh, in lower Egypt. Mr. Lythgoe is going to Egypt to oversee the work of the museum's expedition in the field.

BOWERY DISTRICT LOSES FRIEND

MANY SAD HEARTS ON THE EAST SIDE

Big Tim Sullivan Will Be With Them No More.

New York, Jan. 11.—There was many a sad heart among all creeds and races in Thirteenth congressional district when they learned that Timothy D. Sullivan, their representative in congress, "Big Tim," who also had represented the Bowery district in the senate and assembly at Albany for many years, would be with them no more.

It became known that upon application in the special term of the supreme court, made on the petition of relatives, Justice Amend signed an order committing Representative Sullivan to a sanitarium in Yonkers. The disease from which he is suffering has taken such strides within the last few weeks that it became necessary to make a permanent arrangement for his physical restraint in the sanitarium.

After the committee has been appointed to take charge of Mr. Sullivan's personal affairs he will be removed to Amityville, where Maurice Barrymore and John McCullough, the famous actors, died a number of years ago. Representative Sullivan is suffering from the same malady which brought to an untimely end the two famous members of the theatrical profession.

Representative Sullivan's wife died several weeks ago. The death of his nephew, Timothy P. Sullivan, "Little Tim," several years ago, from the same malady which is now to bring about the "big fellow's" dissolution, was one of the greatest pangs of his life. Together for years and years they had issued the Christmas invitations to the poor and the wanderers of the East Side to partake of the season's joyfulness in the shape of a banquet and the distribution of thousands of pairs of shoes and other comfortable and substantial gifts. His wealth has been estimated at $1,000,000, most of which has been made in moving picture shows.

Mulcted Fraternal Insurance Companies

LED DUAL LIFE?

Two Women Figure In Insurance
Swindler's Case.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 11.—William Vokolek, who confessed to participating in swindles that mulcted fraternal insurance companies of $300,000, was bound over to the federal court after a hearing before United States Commissioner Adler. Officials of the insurance companies identified Vokolek.

An unexpected tangle in the affairs of Vokolek developed when it became known that two women are likely to be conspicuous figures in the investigation now going on.

One of them, a young widow in comfortable financial circles and highly respected, whose name neither police nor postoffice inspectors will reveal, said that Vokolek had represented to her that he was single, and that he had been courting her.

As to the other woman, the post-office inspectors have pictures of her. They are of a beautiful young woman, evidently of foreign nationality. The officials want to find this woman.

THE STORY OF ARSON TRUST IS CONFIRMED

Disclosures Follow Arrest of Two Men In New York.

ONE MAKES FULL CONFESSION

Implicates an Insurance Agent and Adjuster as the Alleged Leader of the Gang and Admits Having Knowledge of Several Incendiary
Fires—How Insurance Companies
Are Robbed of Thousands Annually.

New York, Jan. 11.—The confession of one man and the arrest of another developed, according to Assistant District Attorney Weller and Fire Marshal Prial, that an "arson trust" existed in this city which has robbed the fire insurance companies of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually and which has endangered the lives of many thousands of apartment house dwellers.

The man who confessed was Sam Gold, who lived at 574 East 134th street and wherever else he found it convenient to have a profitable household goods fire. The man who was arrested is George Grutz of 68 East 102nd street, an agent for the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance company and an adjuster on the side. Gold's confession implicated Grutz as the go-between for flat dwellers who were willing to be burned out for a consideration, and the firebugs, the men who actually applied a match to kerosene or oils. One of the principal firebugs employed by the "arson trust," according to Gold's confession, is Isidor Stein, "Izzy the Painter," who is now serving a long term in Sing Sing after having been convicted of arson.

Gold admitted to Attorney Weller and to Fire Marshal Prial that Grutz came to him in 1910 and told him it was easy to make money out of the insurance companies and that he (Grutz) having a pull with the adjusters and agents of the German American Insurance company, could arrange matters profitably. Gold says that Grutz sent him to a professional firebug named Isador Stein, who, in order to procure kerosene and oils without being suspected, ran a make-believe paint store.

"From the investigation by this office," said Assistant District Attorney Weller, "it appears that Grutz, posing as an insurance broker, worked also as an adjuster, and that he was able to compromise many 'total losses' (where the actual loss was trivial) for 50 or 60 per cent of the claim. Stein was the active figure in the crooked combination.

Gold's confession, which described several incendiary fires, was the direct result of the arrest of Grutz. Fire Commissioner Johnson was elated when he received the news of Gold's confession and of Grutz's arrest. The commissioner said it was a story confirming his recent assertions.

DEMOCRATS FAIL TO MAKE A DEAL

Confer With Republicans Over
Taft Appointments.

WOULD WEED OUT SELECTIONS

Republican Senators Insist That No
Discrimination Be Shown Against Any of the Taft Appointments.
Democrats to Hold Caucus to Determine Line of Action — Pome-rene's Proposal to Taft.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Senator Pomerene of Ohio gave President Taft a bit of variety in the matter of daily importunings for federal patronage by requesting that he fill a vacancy in the custom service by a Democrat. The case in point is the office of surveyor of the port at Dayton, which was recently resigned by Edward L. McConaughy. Senator Pomerene is understood to have come to the conclusion that since the Democrats will not allow the president to make any new Republican appointments he might as well give the office to a Democrat now as to allow it to be filled by President Wilson.

Efforts by Democratic senate leaders to make an agreement with the Republican forces for a joint committee to go over President Taft's recent appointments and select certain ones that should be immediately confirmed by the senate met with failure.

Senator Burton recommended William E. Halley for reappointment as postmaster at Greenville, O. He also endorsed Joseph R. Tabor for the Canfield (O.) postmastership.

The attempt at a compromise on appointments was the result of a meeting of the special committee appointed by the Democratic caucus in December to evolve a method of handling the hundreds of appointments that have been sent in by the president since Dec. 2.

Democratic leaders informally proposed to the Republicans that five members be selected by each party to take up the task of weeding out pending nominations. A number of Republicans were called together to consider the proposal, and promptly rejected it.

The outcome of the failure at a compromise will be a renewal of the fight between the two parties next week. It is expected that an executive session of the senate will be held Tuesday or Wednesday. The Republican forces then will insist that nominations be taken up in their regular order and that no discrimination be shown against any of the Taft appointments. A Democratic caucus will be held this evening to determine what action shall be taken.

RECOVERS LOST RING IN AN UNUSUAL WAY.

Bayonne, N. J., Jan. 11.—George Crawford, a fireman, spent his vacation last summer on a farm at Lake Hopakong. During his sojourn he lost a valuable diamond ring. The lost ring was recovered in an unusual way today. He went to a local butcher shop and purchased a chicken. While the cleaning was in progress a ring dropped from the entrails to the counter. Crawford recognized the ring as the one he had lost at Hopakong. Questioning the butcher he learned that the chicken was one of a crate that had been sent from Lake Hopakong. The butcher surrendered the ring and chicken to the fireman.

PRETTY GIRLS HELD AS SHOPLIFTERS

Claim to Have Been Encouraged
By a Pawnbroker.

New York, Jan. 11.—Two attractive girls are charged with shoplifting. The girls are Anita Martish and Kate Cullen. Anita and Kate told the detectives they had been clerks. After the holidays both lost their jobs. They spent their spare time in the department stores. They stole a woman's fur coat valued at $150 from a Sixth avenue store.

"You're a pretty clever pair of kids," they say the pawnbroker told them. "Bring me some more if you get any. I'll give you $14 for this one."

They went back to the same store and walked out with another coat valued at $140. They took this one, they said, to the pawnbroker who gave them $12 for it.

Next they went to a West 14th street store. Here they attempted to carry out a fur coat, but were detected and arrested.

"Doc" Nye Reported To Have Delivered

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—Another chapter was added to the legislative bribery cases when the Franklin county grand jury returned two indictments against a former state official, a Toledo man, who for 15 years has patrolled the legislative halls as a lobbyist for big interests and corporations. The indictments are held secret, pending arrest. The indictments are said to charge giving large sums of money to former Representative George B. Nye of Waverly.

The specific charges in the indictments are kept secret. It is understood that the indictments were based upon information given by Dr. Nye and other witnesses.

BIG SHOE MERCHANTS VISIT LOCAL FACTORY

Merchants Who Place Large Orders Have Big Stores in Principal Cities Come Here to Visit the Plant.

ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT PRODUCT

Hagerty Factory Ranks Way Up With the Firms Who Handle Big Stocks at the Large Centers.

Washington has complete license to feel proud of the interest manifested by big buyers from out of town, in the Hagerty shoe factory.

Last Thursday a customer who is a buyer for an extensive shoe house in Joplin, Mo., on his way to New York and Boston, spent the day with Wert Shoop and visited at the Hagerty factory, placed a large order for goods to be delivered soon as possible, although the shipping date was not named as early as the customer desired because of rush of business at the factory. Today, 3 more big customers paid the factory a visit. One from Wheeling, W. Va., and two from our neighboring city, Columbus.

The interesting feature in connection with these visits is that the gentlemen who have just called here are all buyers for large houses that are well rated, prosperous and doing an extensive business. For one of these especially, a splendid order had to be passed because it could not be delivered in time.

The advantage such an institution as the Hagerty Shoe factory is to this community can scarcely be overestimated. It advertises the city abroad in a substantial way, it brings men of influence and large means directly to our city. This week's visitors at the factory are but illustrations. In addition to all that the concern sells its goods abroad and brings thousands and thousands of dollars into this city from a distance, and this money is paid out each week for labor and other necessary expenses of operating such an institution, and in turn every merchant and tradesman in the city gets his share of the money the factory puts in circulation weekly.

The growth of the Hagerty factory has been remarkable and the place it now occupies in the esteem of big buyers of shoes is an enviable one indeed.

The present fine business it enjoys and its increasing business means that it is acting and will continue to act as the injector of life blood into the arteries of local trade.

Men who know come here and are unstinted in the praise of factory and product.

May Be Seen At Poultry Show

Billy Sunday, the famous evangelist, is to have a counterpart at the Ohio State Poultry show, which opens at Columbus, January 13th to run for a week. The feathered Billy Sunday is a white Cornish game rooster, exhibited by a poultry raiser, Mr. L. G. Carey, from Trimble, Ohio. Mr. Carey says he calls his pet fowl Billy Sunday, because he is clean, white and a good fighter. This will not be the only artiscocratic bird shown at the exhibition, however. The lists are already filled with some of the best chicken blood in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Indiana. These birds will contest for twenty-six silver cups which have been offered, as well as for the number of cash prizes aggregating hundreds of dollars.

One of the most interesting features will be the department in charge of the Ohio State University, which is calculated to be educational in every respect. There will be a showing of capons of birds of high and low vitality, feeding appliances, exhibition of eggs of all sizes and weights, dressed poultry, showing the difference between wet and dry plucking and a series of lectures explaining these various features will be given daily. In addition to all this, another novelty will be demonstrations in domestic science with chickens and chicken products. Girls will roast, fry and stew chickens, bake, boil, fry and otherwise serve eggs, and tables set for small parties in the most approved form of household garniture will be part of this exhibition.

The largest quarters ever occupied by the association have been engaged for this year's show, which will be held at 242-244 North High street. Three stories will be employed in showing the fowls, the education department and the sales department, where birds may be bought and sold all during the week.

Workman Falls And Breaks Arm

Head Electrician Stife, who has been engaged in installing the electric wiring on the Masonic Temple, was the victim of a mishap Friday afternoon which will prevent him from continuing his work for several weeks.

Mr. Stife was working in the Stutson store room on the first floor, and was standing upon a platform eight or ten feet in height, and in some way made a misstep which threw him backward and he crashed to the floor below, alighting with his right arm doubled under him, causing the arm to snap in two places.

He was removed from the place at once and his wounds dressed. He is now at the Arlington hotel, resting as easy as the injury will permit.

In addition to the fractured arm, Stife was badly bruised about the forehead.

This is the most serious accident that has befallen any of the numerous workmen on the building.

Tempers Red Hot Iron in Gasoline

Harry Asher the machinist was engaged Thursday repairing an auto and had drawn a pail of gasoline out of the tank and set it at the side of the car. His helper who had heated a bar of iron red hot in the forge preparatory to tempering it saw the pail of gasoline and thinking it water plunged the red hot iron bar into it. Harry threw up his hand and softly murmured, "Now I lay me," but by one of those rare, but fortunate perversities of gasoline it did not explode. Truly the Lord tempers the wind to the shorn lamb.—Greenfield Republican.

Gas Holders Save the Day

The regulator which controls the supply of gas entering the pipe line at Danville, where the Washington line taps the main line, caused some difficulty about eight o'clock Saturday morning, and the supply of gas here quickly dwindled.

However the Washington Gas & Electric Company had men on the job immediately, and while the regulator at Danville was undergoing repairs, the regulator near the city was closed down and the supply of gas "boxed in". Then the gas in the huge holders or tanks at the local plant, was turned into the mains. The pressure was not strong, but kept all burners going steadily until repairs were made.

A supply sufficient to furnish the city with gas one day or even longer, is said to be kept on hands in the holders.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS CONFESS TO CRIME

Young Desperado Shoots Dog and Is Overhauled By Owner Who Turns Him Over to Chief McCoy Who Obtains Confession to the Robbery of Dice-Mark Hardware Company's Store, Thursday Night, When Revolvers Were Stolen.

The Dice-Mark Hardware store was again burglarized some time Thursday night, but this time the burglars were safely landed in the city lock-up and have confessed their guilt.

The pair of burglars are extremely youthful, and are none other than Carl Mann and Homer Bethard, two boys who are well known to the police, and both of whom have been in trouble before. The Mann boy has been arrested a number of times for various small offenses.

Entrance was gained to the store Thursday night by breaking a window, and two revolvers, a quantity of cartridges and two pocket knives were missed. The affair was placed in the hands of Chief McCoy and he worked quietly to land the guilty parties.

Friday the Bethard lad was out south of town and in passing near a house the watch dog ran out. While the dog did not attack the lad, he pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot it. This enraged the owner and he pursued the lad, overhauling him and turning him over to Chief McCoy who readily recognized the boy and identified the gun as one of those stolen from the Dice Mark Hardware store the previous night.

When accused of the crime, young Bethard admitted his guilt, but said that the Mann boy had entered the place first, and was the leader in the trouble. He informed the police where the lad was in hiding, and within a short time both of the youthful burglars, who are about 15 years of age, were behind the bars, and both had admitted their guilt.

All of the missing articles were recovered, and both of the lads will probably go to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster for indeterminate terms.

Herr Dernburg's Post. By accepting the post of head of the German Colonial Office, Herr Dernburg made a great pecuniary sacrifice. He relinquished this for a salary of $3,750 and an official residence.

Streams Climb Out of Banks

The continued rains have sent many of the streams out of their banks causing high waters which have been carrying out watergates and fences in many places, although so far no great damage is reported in this county.

In Ross county the streams are out of bank and in some places have carried away the public highway, so that instead of a solid foundation upon which to travel, the road bed is gone and the rushing waters are many feet deep.

Canaries to Detect Fire Damp. A cage containing a canary is indispensable on approaching a mine after an explosion. Canaries and small warm blooded animals such as mice are, probably because of their extremely delicate organisms, particularly sensitive to carbon monoxide. Thus, a cage containing one or two canaries should always be taken with an advance exploration party; they are affected by minute quantities of this gas a short time before it will affect a human being. —Cassier's Magazine.

TWIN ILL, SISTER SUFFERS. Girl Sixty Miles Away Shares Ether Effects With Brother.

Baltimore.—Medical scientists are interested deeply in the remarkable sympathetic sensitiveness of Clarence Marsh and his twin sister Clara, eighteen years old. The case was called to the physicians' attention by an operation on the brother in the Maryland University hospital. Though hundreds of miles may separate the twins, any mental or physical ailment that attacks one is felt immediately by the other. They have experienced those sensations since they were small children. When Clarence was put under ether for the operation, his sister became ill in Frederick City and suffered the same fever and nausea as her brother experienced on the operating table sixty miles away.

When the twins were several years younger they suffered measles and whooping cough on the same day and became ill in the same hour. Clarence went to Peddie institute, Hightstown N. J., last September, to study for the ministry. In the latter part of October he became ill enough to need a physician. When he was better he wrote home, telling his family of his illness. He learned that at the time he was seized with his malady his sister was so ill in Frederick that she, too, required a physician's care.

SUFFRAGETTES ON OWN HOOK.

To March by Themselves Instead of In Inaugural Parade.

Chicago.—There will be no suffragists marching behind President Wilson and Mr. Taft in Washington, March 4. The plan has been dropped, it was announced, by officials of the National Woman's Suffrage association. Instead the suffragists will march through the streets of the capital March 3, headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Miss Jane Addams and Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.

In announcing their intention not to appear in the inaugural parade the officials said:

"The inaugural parade is primarily an affair for the incoming president. What we are seeking to do is to attract attention to the woman's suffrage movement. We can do this best by having our demonstration separate."

LARGE CROWD ENJOYS GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The Ohio Wesleyan Glee club and the "Scrap Iron" Quartet sang its way, joked its way, laughed its way into the good grace of a fine audience Friday night at Grace church, and no visiting Glee club ever left a more favorable impression upon Washingtonians.

The local High school Boys' Glee club, which brought the O. W. U. to give a concert for its benefit, was bitterly disappointed over the inclement night, and a number of conflicting affairs. But the audience proved far larger than the club expected and a thoroughly appreciative one, highly stimulating to the entertainers.

The O. W. U. Glee club is an exceptionally strong one of twenty singers. The parts are splendidly balanced and volume good, and the ensemble work showed both practice and good training.

The "Alma Mater," with baritone solo by P. B. Parks, was a superb concert number and undoubtedly the O. W. U. may congratulate itself upon as beautiful a Glee club "Alma Mater" as has ever been put on the boards.

Another fine concert number was "Praise Ye the Lord," with solos by the Glee club leader, Harry P. Hunter, who has a high tenor of very musical quality, and Mr. Parks.

The club's glees and encores were taking.

The "Scrap Iron" quartet stands in a class by itself. It is seldom that four voices are found that blend in such perfect harmony. Both tone and quality and finish were marked features of the work of the quartet.

and the audience found new delight in each number.

Mr. R. W. Wright, the accompanist and also a member of the Glee club, proved himself still further an all around man in two fine organ solos in part first.

Part second was introduced by A. F. Blanks, the club's reader, who gave Ruth McEvery Stuart's formidable story "Morale's Mourning," in a way which called forth a storm of applause. A Southerner himself, Mr. Blanks' impersonation of the colored widow and her period of mourning was delightful and his dialect perfect. He was recalled twice, each time captivating his audience anew, and in varied vein.

Mr. P. B. Parks' baritone solo, "Over the Desert," and the encore which followed were gems of the program. Possessing a baritone of rare beauty and mellowness, Mr. Parks sings with the smoothness and perfect ease of a trained concert singer.

The concert reached its climax in an original club extravaganza, "Waiting for the Train," full of go and providing fun galore for the audience. It was a "hodge podge" of jokes, songs and take-offs, in which the "Terror Twins, Cotta en' Firma," scored success and the story of "Ethel and Algenon" almost finished the audience.

"Ye Ancient Canto" by the boys of 1876 was especially enjoyed by former students.

The clever skit closed in a chorus of popular airs, after several beautiful quartet numbers.

Albert B. Elliott is the club manager and the entire program showed his efficiency.

JOINT INSTALLATION SPLENDIDLY CONDUCTED

The joint installation of the John M. Bell Post and the Woman's Relief Corps No. 12, was splendidly conducted Friday night at the G. A. R. hall.

Appreciates Generosity

Carl Miller, of Jeffersonville, the young corn grower, who was sent by the five city banks on the "Buckeye Boys' Corn Special", to Washington, D. C., was a caller at the Daily Herald office today.

Mr. Miller expressed very great appreciation of the kindness of city banks in giving to him such a wonderful opportunity. Both he and Donald Zimmerman, who is no less grateful to the banks for paying half his expenses (his father paying the other half), are enthusiastic over the fine trip, one of both instruction and pleasure.

The boys had the best of everything on the trip and if there was anything of interest in Washington, D. C., that they missed, they haven't yet found it out.

Beadle Follows Instructions.

According to the London Globe, a Scottish parish minister was going from home and procured the clergyman of a neighboring parish to officiate on Sunday. The parish minister's servant, who was also beadle, was sent over to the station to drive the visiting reverend gentleman to the manse. When the train arrived the beadle asked the visitor to be good enough to wait awhile, as he had some errands to do before going home. It was two hours before he returned. The minister was furious and threatened to report the beadle to his master. "Weel, sir, ye can dae that if ye like," said the beadle, "but he tellt me himself to wait till it was dark afore I drove ye ower, for if the folk o' the village saw who was to preach a body wud turn out the morn."

In Race For Superintendency

Mr. E. L. Mendenhall, former superintendent of the Public schools of this city, has applied for the position of superintendent of the Lancaster home to succeed Superintendent Gerlach.

Mr. Mendenhall has many qualifications which would fit him well for the position and Washington friends hope that he may obtain the appointment.

ONLY THE IGNORANT HURT.

Rouzier Dorcieres, Famous French Duellist Explains the Dangers.

Paris, France.—Rouzier Dorcieres has acted as director of more duels than probably any other man in history, ancient or modern. When he officiated in that capacity recently at the duel between Alex Fischer, a humorist, and Count De Vauxcelles, it was the two hundred and twenty-sixth time Rouzier Dorcieres had acted as "Directeur du Combat."

Dorcieres said: "The greatest danger in duels comes from men who know nothing about the art of fencing."

This remark was aptly illustrated by the outcome of the Fischer-Vauxcelles duel, when the humorist—who, although one of the best known men in Paris, rarely practices the art of fencing—actually ran upon the point of Vauxcelles's sword, inflicting a wound in the neck which nearly proved fatal. In the presence of his wounded enemy Vauxcelles asked for recognition, extending his hand, which was promptly taken just as Fischer fainted.

Removal Sale of Monuments

As I am forced to vacate my present quarters by Feb. 15th, I will offer for sale until that time the largest stock of Granite and Marble Monuments, Markers, Etc., ever carried in stock in this city.

My prices on work which will be sold include all lettering, setting, etc., complete in cemetery, and will be erected as soon as the weather will permit.

The work which I have been turning out is superior to all others, as all work gets the same attention and must be first class before it leaves the shop. My pneumatic plant is known to be the best manufactured, and is the only pneumatic air plant in the city. All cutting, carving, lettering, etc., is done here just the same as it is done at the quarries, and with the same kind of tools.

Call early and make a selection.

111 EAST STREET.

Advocates Paving Of North North Street

Many Property Owners Favor It Instead of Making Constant Repairs on Macadam Street, But Question of Paving Before Sewers Are Laid Again Bobs Up.

Residents of North street have been agitating a movement to have that street paved with brick next year, and the plan discussed is to pave the street from the intersection of court street to the corporation line, or at least near the corporation line.

North street is one of the most difficult streets to keep in order, owing to the great amount of traffic it is called upon to bear, and while extensive repairs were made upon it this fall, it is expected that by spring the street will again be in a bad state of repair, and the plan to substitute brick for the macadam constantly required has apparently met with general favor among the property owners, and a petition to pave the street is expected before spring.

Within the past several years a great amount of new material has been placed upon North street, and the traffic has been such that time after time repairs have been made where the constant travel has cut its way almost through.

While many favor paving from curb to curb, and not paving the center alone, it is the desire of most of the property owners that the sewer problem be settled for years to come before the pavement is laid, in order that the pavement will not be torn up to lay sewers.

For the above reason, paving North street may be delayed for a year or more until the sewer question is settled.

When the sanitary sewerage system is once installed, it is expected that there will be calls for paving upon a great many of the principal streets, but until it is settled, the property owners are apparently not anxious to have the streets paved.

Amir Adopting Electricity.

Evidently The Wrong Washington

Chief McCoy received a telegram Friday evening from the St. Louis, Mo., authorities, asking him to locate relatives of James Osborn, a son of General Osborn, formerly of this city, who had died in St. Louis.

After making a careful search for the information desired, and not being able to secure any trace of the man's relatives, Chief McCoy wired back the information.

It is believed the St. Louis officials made a mistake and wired to the wrong Washington.

"AT THE Y. M. C. A."

Washington people have reason to feel proud of the splendid Y. M. C. A. quarters.

The building architecturally, externally and internally, is all that our people were promised it would be—a structure which is a credit to a city much larger than Washington.

It adds to the looks of the city immeasurably both by day and by night—an imposing structure.

All that, however, is the least of the advantage to the city.

The Y. M. C. A. has proven a magnet which has drawn boys of all ages and young men within the ever widening circles of its gigantic whirlpool of good influence.

Bright faced happy boys rush to the building at the hour appointed for them, and leave it at the conclusion of their period of wholesome amusement and instruction, happier with the memory of value received.

The influence of the Y. M. C. A. is spreading into every nook and corner of the city. Boys are gathered in—or rather attracted unconsciously until it is fast becoming the real amusement place for young men and boys.

What this means to the youth of a community, the older people realize and the coming years will prove.

The boys are taught while their bodies are strengthened. They are trained, mentally, physically and morally and they are enthusiastically in love with their training school.

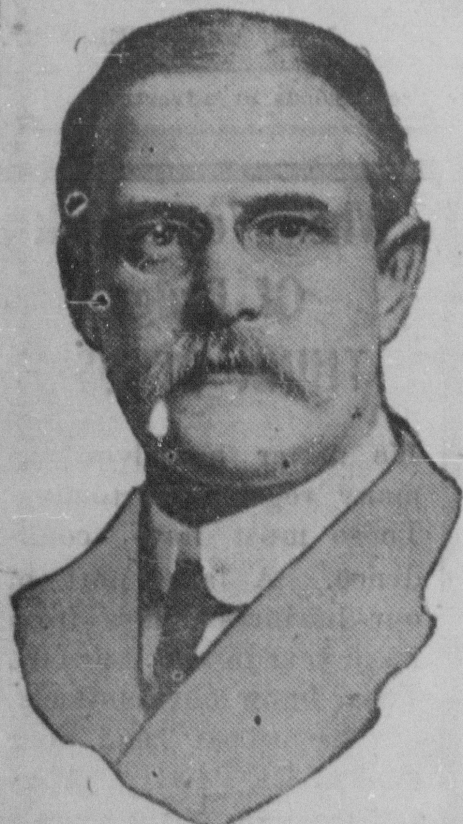

No man can pass the Y. M. C. A. and see the happy healthy boys trooping in and out without feeling proud that we have such an institution.

The satisfaction the mothers of the city enjoy when the boy, starting away from home, is asked where he is going, shouts back, "To the Y. M. C. A.," is worthy the effort it cost our good people to provide such a place.

In fact the good mother rarely ever asks now where the boy is going. He talks Y. M. C. A. all day and when he is not at home or at school it is safe to take it for granted that he is "at the Y. M. C. A."

The good people of Washington never performed a greater work, never rose equal to a greater duty than they did when they built the Y. M. C. A.

Our Brains Are Overfed With Useless Dead Languages

Neglect To Teach English

By BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER,
President of University of California

NEGLECT OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE IS EDUCATION'S GREATEST DEFECT TODAY. ASKING AND ANSWERING DIFFICULT CONUNDRUMS RELATIVE TO DOUBTFUL MEANING OF PASSAGES WRITTEN LONG AGO OCCUPY TIME AND ATTENTION THAT MIGHT BETTER BE DEVOTED TO A STUDY OF THE PROPER USE OF WORDS.

A vast amount of TIME AND MENTAL ENERGY IS WASTED in our high schools and colleges. Our professors are lacking in that they literally ladle out subject matter to so great an extent that it cannot possibly be grasped by the student. Better be stingy in this respect. Then the STUDENT CAN MENTALLY DIGEST WHAT IS GIVEN HIM.

There is power in the English language. The man who can speak and write so as to be understood has a great power at his command. It is a glorious thing when the schoolboy is made to feel that our language is not a thing to be trifled with.

Too many persons believe gaining of knowledge is the one object of a college education. The primary purpose is to GAIN THE POWER TO BECOME AN EFFECTIVE PERSONALITY. Knowledge is secondary to this. There is nothing specific in education. It is DEVELOPMENT OF PERSONALITY.

We are reaching out too far in our high schools. Children are being taught there what we used to learn in college. A sense of form and refinement is badly needed here. Too much is undertaken in the way of higher education that should not come until after the university stage is reached.

Poetry For Today

DE PROFUNDIS.

I am so weary of soot,
Of breathing bituminous air!
I wish the reform would stay put,
And the ordinance kept in repair.
I'm tired of having folk say,
"There's a big piece of soot on your face!"
And I want to go out for a day
To the charms of some wholesomely place!

I am so weary of dirt
Down-dropping all day in my hair,
And seeing the sleeves of my shirt
So dirty from moderate wear!
I'm tired, and ready to weep—
O, the hard carboniferous life!
I want to go out with the sheep,
And blow the pure air through a fife!

I am so weary of grit,
And having the particles float
Upon the fair page I have writ,
Each particle making a note.
I write better music than that,
And I don't want the whimsical grime
To serve as the sharp and the flat
In the musical score of my rhyme.

I am so weary of blights
And blots from the chimneys and stacks;
I want to get out where the whites
Are never mistaken for blacks!
The melting pot does very well,
And we ought to be melted, I think
But it comes pretty near being hell
To be fused in a bottle of ink.

FORGET THE PAST.

In the newly opened Historical Cabinet of the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England are exhibited chains and belts of the kind formerly used for the purpose of securing lunatics. These contrivances seem to have been in frequent use up to the beginning of the nineteenth century. In those days insanity was punished as a crime, often torturingly. Charles Reade's "Hard Cash" will help open eyes to-day to show what fine, intelligent, beastly ancestors we had. With few exceptions the present and the historical past had best be forgotten except to take landmarks and observations as how best to keep off the shoals and rocks of murder, despair and iniquity.

NINE-HOUR LAW VALID

New York Justice, In Upholding State Act, Makes Some Comment.

New York, Jan. 11.—The state law limiting the number of hours that a woman may be employed in any one week to 54 was declared constitutional by Supreme Court Justice Blackmar in Brooklyn, in a test case brought by William Hoelderlin, a candy manufacturer. Hoelderlin claimed that the law was unconstitutional in that it abridged civil liberty and further, in exempting the canning industry, it violated the principle that laws must be uniform in their application.

Justice Blackmar declared that women's liberty "to contract to sell their labor may be only another name for involuntary service created by existing industrial conditions."

ing toward the combination or control of financial institutions. Mr. Baker said he had been concerned in combining some banks and knew of some other combinations, but said he knew of no complete change of policy in that connection.

"I suppose you would see no harm," said Mr. Untermyer, "in having the control of credit, as represented by the control of banks and trust companies, still further concentrated? Do you think that would be dangerous?"

Mr. Baker pondered the question for a time and then answered: "I think it has gone about far enough."

In the midst of the wordy discussion of bond issues of millions and the intricacies of high finance, Mr. Untermyer endeavored to connect Mr. Baker, J. P. Morgan and James Stillman up in a financial triumvirate controlling huge interests. Mr. Baker did not admit this. The witness stated that Mr. Morgan would be the most dominant figure in the financial world "if he were younger" and that he knew of no one more dominant than Mr. Morgan.

Romance Shattered Man Is a Bigamist

William Salked, of Braddock, Pa., is in the Ross county jail facing a bigamy charge, while Miss Nellie Martin, daughter of Thomas Martin, of Chillicothe, is bemoaning the loss of a husband, and vowing that never again will she place her card in a package when it leaves the Meade Paper Mills of that city.

Some months ago Miss Martin, an employee of the Meade Paper Co., placed her card in a package of paper sent out, with the request that the one who found it, communicate with her.

The package fell into the hands of Wise Bird, This Woodpecker.

In California the woodpecker stores acorns away, although he never eats them, says the Cleveland Leader. He bores several holes, differing slightly in size, at the fall of the year, invariably in a pine tree. Then he finds an acorn, which he adjusts to one of the holes prepared for its reception.

But he does not eat the acorn, for, as a rule, he is not a vegetarian. His object in storing away the acorns exhibits foresight and a knowledge of results more akin to reason than to instinct. The succeeding winter the acorns remain intact, but, becoming saturated, are predisposed to decay, when they are attacked by maggots, which seem to delight in this special food.

It is then that the woodpecker reaps the harvest his wisdom has provided, at a time when, the ground being covered with snow, he would experience difficulty otherwise in obtaining suitable or palatable food.

Cellars and Ventilation.

A warm dry cellar is literally and actually the foundation of a warm, dry and well-ventilated house. The evolution of the cellar is an interesting study in the slow development of human intelligence. Originally it was devised as a subterranean, frost pit or cave under the house, in which could be stored first, wines, and later apples, potatoes, cabbages and other perishable fruits, together with milk, butter and cheese.

The cellar should be cleaned, lighted and heated in the winter and summer just as carefully and scrupulously as any other part of the house. When this is done, together with the proper ventilation, it will be rid of one stroke of dampness. The complaint that heating the cellar has spoiled its use for storage purposes is simply a proof of its advantages.

The Oldest Religion.

According to many scholars, the oldest form of religion is that known as the "religion of the dead." Before men had any idea of "Indra" or "Zeno" or "Jehovah" they adored the dead, feared them and offered prayers to them. They did not look upon the departed as being dead, but as still living in the tomb, about which food and drink were regularly placed that the departed might not go hungry and thirsty. It was perhaps while looking on the face of the dead, says Conlanges, in his "Ancient City," that man first conceived the idea of the supernatural and began to have a hope beyond what he saw. Death was the first mystery, and it placed man on the track of other mysteries. It raised his thoughts from the visible to the invisible, from the transitory to the eternal, from the human to the divine.

TRUE HAPPINESS.

About the happiest man in the world should be he that, having a fad, is able to make a living at it.

REASON FOR ROUGHNESS.

This planet is pretty rough because there is hardly any place on it where truth has not been crushed to earth.

PESSIMISM.

The optimist sees the pork chop. The pessimist sees the price.

Sues Railroad To Reform Deed

A suit much out of the ordinary has been filed in the Common Pleas court by Robert R. Dill, who makes Receiver George P. Johnson of the D. T. & I. and the D. T. & I. railroad defendants in a suit for equitable relief.

The plaintiff states that on Oct. 3, 1894, he entered into a contract with the D. T. & I. railroad by which he agreed to convey to the defendant a certain tract of land, for the sum of $500. The tract in question was 50 feet wide and 1970 feet long, containing 2.26 acres, located in Jefferson township.

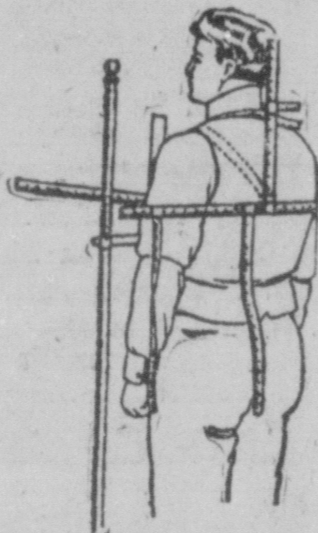

The stipulation was made in the agreement that the defendant was to build and maintain suitable fences and crossings.

Plaintiff claims that by mutual mistake it was not placed in the agreement that if the use of the ground for railroad purposes was discontinued, that it should revert back to the plaintiff. He was not aware of the mistake until 1908. In the year 1901, all property of the "Cincinnati extension", or Grasshopper division, was sold to the D. T. & I. and the plaintiff now asks that the deed be reformed and the clause above mentioned inserted, also for all other proper relief.

TAILOR'S MEASURE.

Arrangement of Rulers and Tape Insures Accuracy.

Even a poor tailor can get your measurements correctly with the measuring device designed by a New York man. This is so constructed, of rules and tape lines, that it does the work almost automatically, not to mention its accuracy and the speed with which it can be used. An upright standard has been attached to a sliding bar, jutting out at right angles. At the end of the horizontal bar is a vertical rule, against which the customer stands. Another rule passes under an arm pit, and on the back of this, forming a "T," is still another horizontal rule, passing up the customer's back to above the collar. Tape measures depend from the horizontal rule in the back and pass around the neck, while a slidable bar on the vertical rule in the back is brought down until it rests on the shoulders. When a man has been trussed up in this form of strait-jacket it takes only a few minutes for the tailor to get measurements which are absolutely accurate.—Washington Star.

Lived in Chimney.

The death has just occurred of Joseph Becalick, known in the village of Woolfardisworthy West, North Devon, for the past twenty years as "the man who lives in the chimney."

Becalick's history was a strange and somewhat sad one. Beginning life as a farm hand, he was educated at a night school under the then vicar of the parish, and was later appointed rate collector for the district. In addition he held a small farm.

Here he lived with two servants, never having married, when the accident occurred which led to his strange existence. Over twenty years ago, while on one of his periodical visits to Bideford Market, his house was burned to the ground. One wall, however, was intact, supported apparently by an old-fashioned chimney, at the base of which was a fireplace, an aperture about five feet square.

Into this cavity, amid the ruins of his house, the poor man crept and lay down to sleep. And here for more than twenty years he had lived alone through storm and sunshine, wind and snow. A deal box was his couch, and he cooked his food at a log fire.

Becalick was seventy-one years of age, and owned a horse and market trap up to the time of his death.

It is said that Becalick was possessed of ample means, and some years ago he commenced building a new house near the side of the old one, but when about half completed he abandoned the work.—London Chronicle.

Interesting Information.

In an interview published in the Kieler Neueste Nachrichten, Grossadmiral von Koster says many interesting things about his visit to New York, among them the following: "In the absence of President Taft, who was away on a trip to the Mexican frontier, the place of honor was taken by the vice-president of the United States, Secretary of State Sherman of New York."

ASK STATE TOWAR ON WHITE PLAGUE

Ohio Society Needs Assistance
In Its Campaign on Disease.

KILLS 7,000 OHIOANS YEARLY

Plan to Have State Board of Health Spend $25,000 a Year in a Broader Campaign of Education Than Limited Resources of Volunteer Society Will Admit.

In urging the creation of the new State Division of Tuberculosis, under the direction of the State Board of Health, members of the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis are hammering upon three cardinal points:

The disease causes more than 7,000 deaths annually in Ohio. There are now more than 35,000 sufferers in this state.

The disease is preventable—is known as "the disease of ignorance"—and its ravages may be greatly curtailed by educating the public.

These are three excellent reasons why the state should take a hand in the fight. Tuberculosis has become a great problem, and for the protection of its citizens the state should take action in curbing it. The bill providing for the establishment of the new division carries with it an appropriation of but $25,000 a year, for two years, which is but very small when compared to the great outlay devoted to other lines of public work.

Plan Educational Work.

Dr. Robert G. Paterson, executive secretary of the state society, says that if the appropriation is made—and indications are that it will be—the state will carry on the work the state society has begun, extend it, and conduct a campaign of education through the newspapers and through exhibits to teach the people means of preventing and fighting the modern scourge.

"A plan to make compulsory reports on all cases of tuberculosis is one of the absolutely essential things needed," Dr. Paterson declared. "This has been ordered by the State Board of Health, and under the new department it would be extended by employing a statistician to follow up and analyze the reports sent in by the local health authorities and check these with information obtained from other sources."

Should Extend Work.

"The work of free examination of all sputum, which is now carried on by the State Board of Health, should be extended. The importance of this service should be impressed upon the physicians as well as the general public," Dr. Paterson declared.

"The department would extend the work of free disinfection of rooms or apartments that have been vacated by consumptives," he continued. "Efforts along this line would be directed towards the local health authorities, urging them to perform this as regularly as any other function and toward the public at large in an effort to make them expect this service."

"Of highest importance, I believe, would be the campaign of education. The tentative plans provide for a traveling exhibit with several smaller exhibits which could be loaned to schools under the direction of a competent director and lecturer."

Publicity Would Help.

"The publicity plan also contemplates enlisting the aid of physicians all over the state to lecture in the public schools and at public gatherings, and the employment of a newspaper man to see that news matter of an educational nature gets to the newspapers of the state. If the support of the 700 Ohio editors can be enlisted in an anti-tuberculosis campaign their help will be the greatest force in curbing the disease," the secretary said.

"There are several other important matters that would come under the direction of the state department," Dr. Paterson added. "They could prepare and distribute the circulars and pamphlets which have been found to be effective, could provide sanitary cuspidors for the poor patients and to various charitable societies for distribution; keep in touch with the physicians of the state and keep tab on all cases, and accomplish similar things that the Ohio society can not do."

Funds Too Limited.

Since the state society was organized originally in 1901 and reorganized in 1911, the anti-tuberculosis propaganda has been pushed vigorously in Ohio, but the society has been hampered by a lack of funds. Its chief source of revenue has been from the annual sale of Christmas seals, and this has amounted to only $7,000.

The importance of the work in face of the growing menace of consumption has convinced those in charge of the work that state co-operation is necessary.

The plan for the establishment of a state division has been formally endorsed by the society, which includes many of the leading physicians and philanthropic men and women of the state, by the State Board of Health, by the Ohio State Medical society, and by many prominent men who have been consulted regarding the proposed measure.

CHANGES IN CLIMATE.

Scientists Able to Discover None Within Historic Times.

The explorations in Central Asia have laid bare the ruins of once flourishing cities. M. Boutquin, in the French journal Ciel et Terre, proves, by historical evidence and modern scientific discoveries by the human race was brought about by causes entirely unrelated to such supposed meteorological changes as a general cooling of climates or a progressive desiccation of the globe. In Europe, for example, a sensitive lowering of the temperature and decrease in the precipitation of rain and snow would have caused a well-marked and continuous recession of glaciers, but no such recession is shown by the records of more than 2,000 years. Heim has proved that, although the glaciers of the Alps receded during the latter half of the nineteenth century, they are now far more extensive than they were in the Middle Ages.

Polybius, in the second century B. C., describes the rich gold and silver mines of the Tyrol. These mines yielded abundantly until the middle of the sixteenth century, after which date their productivity rapidly diminished because the mouths of shafts became covered with ice. A shaft sunk at this epoch was covered in 1570 by a glacier sixty-five feet thick. Resistance to the invasion of the ice soon became impossible. In the eighteenth century the glacier was more than 300 feet high, and in 1875 it had attained a height of 400 feet.

For many years it was asserted that the east coast of Greenland had formerly enjoyed a mild climate, which favored the growth of vegetation and gave rise to the name of Greenland. The historical researches of Rink and Van Maurer, however, have proved that the decay of the peats established by the Norwegians in olden times was caused by the introduction of a contagious disease and by the adoption by the Norwegian Government of an unwise economic policy, which provoked hostile attacks by the Eskimos. Equally erroneous statements have been made in regard to Iceland.

In the British Isles, the cultivation of wheat formerly extended much farther north than it does at present, simply because it was then, in the absence of foreign competition, more profitable than it is now. Yet it has been very difficult to gain acceptance for this elementary truth; the popular belief in a change of season or climate for a long time prevailed over all evidence.—Paris Cosmos.

Scourge of the Swiss.

The prevalence in Switzerland of goitre, that distressing disease which is caused by drinking snow water, is graphically shown by the striking figures recently issued by the Federal military Department, setting forth the number of men who are lost to the country, from the military service point of view, owing to this affliction alone.

It has been statistically proved that an average number of from 2,200 to 2,500 men are each year rejected for service in the army owing to the presence of goitre in some degree; and the compilers of the report demonstrate how quickly, at this rate of rejection, the services of an entire division and even of an army corps are lost.

The cantons of Valais and the Grisons, being the most mountainous parts of Switzerland, are the districts of the country in which the complaint is most common; but people in other parts are also affected to a distressing extent.

So serious has the scourge become during recent years, with a tendency to increase rather than to decrease, that a commission is to be appointed by the Federal Government to study and report upon the disease in order that preventive measures may be adopted and that a serious campaign against the malady may be initiated.

Two Local Farmers Carry Off Premiums

In one of the best exhibits of corn ever shown in the state, three Fayette farmers carried off a number of premiums at the State Corn Show at Lima this week, placing their corn at the very top in the other grown throughout the Buckeye state.

Floyd Eichelberger, the well known corn grower of Jefferson township, was in the lead, winning 2nd on the best ten ears of white; 2nd on the best ten ears of mixed and 6th on the best ten ears of yellow.

Ora Allen, also of Jefferson township, won 8th on the best ten ears of yellow and 10th on the best ten ears of white.

H. W. Bussert carried off 2nd in the best ten ears of yellow, while the High school trophy cup was won by the Jefferson High school exhibit. It was an easy victory for the High school at Jeffersonville.

Mr. Bussert sent his corn to the National show in Tennessee, and Mr. Eichelberger will probably send his to the National show.

Messrs. Eichelberger and Allen left Lima at four o'clock Friday afternoon, just 30 minutes after the D. T. & I. passenger train left. They made the trip to Springfield on a limited traction car, and after waiting 39 minutes for the D. T. & I. boarded it for home, arriving two hours late.

Grasshopper Train Takes to the Ditch

The grasshopper train is in trouble yet. One of the worst wrecks for many months occurred one mile west of Jeffersonville Friday afternoon about four o'clock, and up until the noon hour Saturday traffic had not been restored.

This time four cars, including a car of hogs, left the rails, due to the rails spreading while the train was making some ten miles per hour.

Luckily the engine did not leave the rails, and it continued the journey on the eastern end of the division. The D. T. & I. wrecker from Springfield arrived on the scene between eight and nine o'clock Friday night and commenced work on the wreck.

Difficulty was experienced in handling the car of hogs, as the car had tilted considerably when it went into the ditch.

Pair May Go To Workhouse

Walter Simpson and Josephine Graves, both colored, who were arrested on a statutory charge Thursday night, are in the county jail facing a long workhouse sentence if they do not pay the fine assessed against them.

When arraigned before Mayor Smith Friday they were both given a fine of $50 and the costs, and ordered committed to the workhouse until paid.

Up until this afternoon they had failed to raise the amount, and it was announced they would go to the workhouse on the four o'clock train if they did not secure the price to freedom. Both are in jail.

Adams Pleads To Indictment

James Adams, indicted for assault and battery and carrying concealed weapons, the man who was arrested in Good Hope Christmas day for creating a disturbance there, appeared before Judge Carpenter of the Common Pleas court Friday afternoon, and drew a fine of $10 and the costs.

The total fine was $24.94 and a sentence of 30 days in the workhouse was suspended pending good behavior.

The fine was imposed for carrying concealed weapons, the other charge being dismissed.

Elopes With a 15-year-old Girl

Jacob Daniels, married, left his wife and one-year old child in Pike county a few days ago and is now believed to be in Kentucky with LeVina James, a 15-year-old girl who lived on an adjoining farm.

The wife and child are in most destitute circumstances, and the wife is heartbroken over the act of her weakling husband.

Two More Plead Guilty

Thurston Smith and Tod Smith, indicted for trespassing, and for larceny, entered pleas of guilty before the Common Pleas court Friday, to a charge of larceny, and each of the men was given $10 and the costs and 30 days in the workhouse, the workhouse sentence was suspended, however, pending good behavior.

The two men left $42.70 with the court. The charges of trespassing and also the indictment against Thurston Smith for pointing fire arms, were dismissed.

Long-Forgotten Tragedy.

There has just returned to Berlin Dr. A. von Le Coq, the head of the small scientific Emperor to Chinese Turkestan in September, 1904, to carry on the work of excavation in and around the town of Turfan. For the most part these discoveries consist of MSS. in at least ten different languages and paintings on hardened mud, plaster and wood.

There are several in a tongue that is declared to be utterly unknown. These last will probably attract the notice and interest of ethnologists throughout the world. Apparently this language is a variation of Syriac.

Although most of these manuscripts must date back to the eighth and ninth centuries, if not even earlier, there is no papyrus among them, all being written on parchment, two or three kinds of Chinese paper or leather.

Other discoveries made by this expedition were of a more gruesome nature. In one temple unearthed from the sands that had long covered it Dr. von Le Coq found some hundreds of dead bodies of Buddhist monks. The place was crowded with these to the very doors, and evidence was forthcoming of these having been driven into the temple by the Mongol followers of Confucius and then so fastened in that escape was impossible and death from suffocation was only a matter of time. Probably this massacre took place ten or twelve centuries ago, but when the temple was opened the bodies were found to be in a remarkable state of preservation.—London Times.

GETS RARE LIBRARY.

The Jarboe Collection, Dealing with French Revolution.

The famous "Jarboe collection" of rare volumes of the French Revolution was acquired by Stanford University. This extremely valuable addition to the local library comes as a surprise to nearly everyone, as it was regarded as unobtainable by numerous institutions which had already made advances with a view of buying the choice collection of books. This collection takes its name from the man who originally brought the books together, John R. Jarboe, a prominent lawyer of San Francisco, many years ago.

The value of the library does not lie in its size, but in the character of its contents. The collection contains approximately 2,500 pieces. These are from almost entirely original sources and materials, most of them being extremely rare. The collection of contemporary pamphlets alone comprises 1,500 titles, and memoirs are present in surprising numbers. The plates and prints on subjects relating to the French Revolution add interest to the collection. It is surpassed only by the Andrew D. White collection at Cornell University, and perhaps by the libraries of some of the older universities, or of such as have made special purchases along this line.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Teachers Who Passed the Exam.

The County Board of School Examiners met at the Court House Saturday and after grading the papers of the nineteen persons who tried the teachers' examination held Saturday, Jan. 4th, announced the following result:

For two years—Grace Patton, Greenfield; Hazel McCord, Washington; Stella Wentz, Jeffersonville.

The examination is said to have been one of the most difficult in recent years.

The next examination will be held February 3rd.

ENGLISH WOMEN PRETTIER.

London Paper Sees a Change, Due, It is Said, to Less Rush and More Rest.

London, England.—Why is it, asks a London paper, that now so many women one sees are pretty, and many beautiful, while a year ago it was the exception to see a pretty one, and beautiful women were rare? There may be some substratum of truth in the reasons advanced for this pleasant change, if one grants that any change has occurred.

"Women have not been living such strenuous lives for the last nine or ten months," said a Bond street "beauty doctor." "Few parties or balls have been given, and women have had to undergo a sort of involuntary rest cure, and there has been no rush. When the London season is in full swing a woman has not got a minute to herself. Her life is one continual round of changing dresses and one whirl of engagements.

"Women are looking younger because their skins are in better order owing to the greater amount of sleep they are able to get, and because their digestions are improving as the result of less rush.

"Again, bridge is losing its hold. Women still play bridge, but not so feverishly, and they don't gamble to any extent, nor do they start playing before luncheon, as they used to do, and that fact takes that unlabeled, harassed look away to a large extent.

"Then fashion has ordained that a small waist is not necessary now, but that slender hips are. The newer corsets leave the waist loose, with the result that the digestion is not impaired by tight lacing."

To Make Eden Bloom Again.

London, England.—Sir John Jackson has obtained the contract for the construction of the first dam in the irrigation works designed by Sir William Wilcox for the Turkish Government with the object of again making an Eden of Mesopotamia. Sir Wm. Wilcox, who has been engaged in surveying the land between the Tigris and the Euphrates, in 1918 predicted that this vast territory, now an arid waste infested by swamps, but showing traces of ancient irrigation canals, would again blossom as the rose, provided that works, of which this dam is the first, be carried out.

Springfield May Get Head Offices

According to an interview given out by Receiver George P. Johnson, of the D. T. & I. railroad, the main offices of the D. T. & I. will be moved to Springfield within the next few months.

He also said that there was not the least likelihood of the Pennsylvania, B. & O. or N. & W. purchasing the road when it is sold in February. The sale will be held in Springfield on February 5th, and the stockholders and all interested in the road will be represented by a New York firm.

Had Close Call From Being Killed

"Buffalo, N. Y.—A man injured here last night in a taxi accident, regained consciousness today and gave his name as H. H. Mechlin. He stated his home is in Winchester, but that he has offices in Cincinnati."

The above article was the first intimation Mr. Mark Mechlin, proprietor of the Palace theater of this city, had of the serious accident which befell his father in Buffalo, this week, when a street car struck a taxi containing Mr. Mechlin.

When Mr. Mechlin read the account he immediately telephoned home and learned that his father is much better and rapidly recovering from the injuries.

Christianity in Japan.
Miss Cornelia Judson visited several of the cities and towns of Japan, making an evangelistic tour of nearly three months in duration. She writes: "Everywhere I found only hope and great opportunities for work. The Japanese are now ready to listen to Christian teaching as never before. The leaders of the people have laid aside their opposition and are thinking seriously of the need of such moral teaching and training as Christianity alone can give for their young people."

Mining With Liquid Air.
Liquid air has a commercial value in England as a blasting explosive, and is used in many mines for the dislodgment of coal. The cartridges are made of thick phosphor-bronze, and the explosion takes place in about six minutes after loading. About thirty tons of coal can be broken by one shot. The explosive power of liquid air depends upon its property of turning suddenly into vapor at a high temperature.

Windows Are Smashed In Waiters' Strike War

Window Smashed; Waiters Strike.
New York, Jan. 11.—Patrons in the basement cafe of Moguin's uptown restaurant were settling comfortably to dinner when a brick whanged through a windowpane, barely missing the head of a man who sat near the window. Outside in Sixth avenue there were yells and whoops from walking delegates of the I. W. W. and from waiters on strike. Acting on a signal from the outside, the chef, the assistant chefs, the waiters, the scullions and all the rest of the kitchen help quit.

Mandamus Suit Settles Standing Of Judges

CIRCUIT JUDGES SAFE

Ohio Supreme Court Holds They Become Appellate Jurists.

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—Peremptory writ in mandamus was allowed by the supreme court requiring Governor Harmon to issue an official commission to Judge Charles E. Chittenden of Toledo as circuit judge-elect. This decision confirms the right of circuit judges-elect to sit as appellate judges for the full term of six years, to which they were elected last fall as circuit judges.

It is noteworthy that the first decision of the supreme court, sitting under the new constitution, is an interpretation of the new constitution, and that the court's construction of the judicial amendment is in line with the known intention of the framers of the amendment.

Fires Home and Fires on Police.

Newark, O., Jan. 11.—William Ostrander, recently released from an insane asylum, set fire to his house and attempted to blow up the ruins with a charge of powder. When the firemen and police arrived he opened fire on them with a shotgun, but failed to injure anyone. The police returned the shots and finally captured Ostrander.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Tonight will see for the first time in the history of the nation three "first ladies of the land" seated at the festive board in the White House at the same time. President and Mrs. Taft will have as their guests to dinner Mrs. Grover Cleveland and Mrs. Benjamin Harrison.

WALKING FOUR MILES AN HOUR.

Most Persons Think It Is Easy, but Trial Proves Otherwise.

There is nothing that the average person believes more implicitly than that he can walk four miles in an hour easily. Almost any one will say: "We were out walking for an hour and a half to-day. Let me see—four miles an hour; that makes six miles we went." And he is convinced that is the ground his party covered.

That same average person has only to try to walk four miles in sixty minutes to discover that it is good, stiff going. There are many more folks who cover three miles in the time, when they think they are going at the rate of a mile better, than there are who actually know the pace they are making.

It is an easy thing to determine. For instance, one man noted the time on his watch when he started and swung along at a gait that he fondly believed was a mile in ten minutes. That, for instance, would be about one-half the speed that the average mile runner would make when he was fairly new to the game, but he would have to train for a time to do that, says the Boston Herald.

The walker didn't take out his watch until he had reached the end of his first mile. Then he looked. It was fifteen minutes almost to the second when he ended that mile.

This was a little of a shock, especially as there were only a couple of crosswalks in the way and there was a nice stretch of gravel path alongside the pavements on which to walk. But he started off again for the second time. This time he walked steadily, using his hips, and eventually got striding at a clip that convinced him he was going at least four minutes better than the other mile. The inexorable watch showed fourteen minutes for the second mile.

Cats Wanted.

The Governor of the German colony at Togo has ordered cats to be kept in all the schools, hospitals, prisons and other public buildings where the natives congregate. The order is contained in a decree dealing with the danger of the introduction of plague in Togo from the British Gold Coast. Dr. Koch, the bacteriologist, has reported the successful experiments made with cats for the eradication of rats in plague-infected and plague-menaced harbors of China. In Hong-kong orders have been issued providing for the maintenance of one or more cats in every household.

Afraid of His Job.

"How is it you never take a vacation? The boss could get along without you, all right."

"I know he could, but I don't want him to find out."

The less a man knows about a subject the more angry he gets if you question his position toward it.

Self-perpetuation is the first law of the legislature.
